“Tough” Gets You Through Today.

GRIT Gets You Through Tomorrow

Some days, it feels easy to stay strong. But it’s also hard not to give into fear, feeling overwhelmed, and even a little hopelessness, sometimes. On those days, there’s a hidden strength you can tap into—resilience.

Spread support in your community by signing up for GRIT Resilience Training. GRIT is a free five-hour training designed specifically to support and build resilience in yourself and your community.

With GRIT-SERVE, learn foundational education on stress, trauma, and resilience as it pertains to military and emergency responders, as well as key steps in reaching out and making meaningful connections in your community, while focusing on strengths! This free training is available in self-paced learning and is packed with helpful resources, including military and emergency responder specific resources.
